Redding Rancheria Announces the 2nd Annual Northern California Diabetes Conference Friday, November 21, 2025 – Win-River Resort & Casino, Redding, CA

Redding, Calif. — The Redding Rancheria Tribal Health System is proud to announce the 2nd Annual Northern California Diabetes Conference, a premier regional event bringing together healthcare professionals, educators, community leaders, and industry experts to advance diabetes awareness, treatment, and prevention across Northern California. The conference will be held Friday, November 21, 2025, at the Win-River Resort & Casino in the Eagle Room.

Building on the success of last year's inaugural event, the 2025 conference will feature dynamic presentations from leading experts in diabetes care, practical tools for providers, and culturally informed approaches to improving the health of Native American and rural communities.

“We are thrilled to bring this conference back for a second year,” said Cory Ryan, Community Health Director for Redding Rancheria Tribal Health System. “Diabetes continues to disproportionately affect Native communities, and our goal is to bring accessible, high-quality education to the providers and partners who serve these populations every day.”
